

Case Study

Robust classroom PC solution implemented across academy trust

Osborne Co-Operative Academy Trust is a multi-academy trust made up of twelve schools, including one junior, eight primary, and three secondary. Built on the values of international cooperation, the Trust is all about creating a global community where individuals can thrive together.

The Requirement

The Trust's IT team were struggling to find a classroom PC that ticked all the right boxes. They wanted something affordable, robust, tamper-proof, and secure, but also visually appealing for the classroom environment. Many all-in-one solutions looked great on paper but just weren't practical, they were too fragile, too costly to repair, or simply didn't suit a school setting.

Our Solution

After spotting our Flex Slim PC in an email, the team decided to visit us at the Bett Show to take a closer look. What they found was a neat, classroom-ready solution that could be converted into an all-in-one setup using our custom mounting kit.

The Flex Slim offered the right balance of durability and performance, powered by a solid CPU and GPU combination. It came with supportive feet and a lockable cable shroud, making it a practical and tamper-resistant option for busy school IT suites. We paired the PC with quality peripherals and added custom branding to give it a polished, professional look.

Outcome

The Flex Slim has proven to be exactly what the Trust was looking for. It's reduced the risk of damage and vandalism in their IT suites, saving both time and budget. The solution is easy to install and maintain, and the aesthetic touch of the branding has been a nice bonus too.

They've also appreciated the ongoing support from our team, knowing there's always someone ready to help if anything crops up.
